Dear colleagues,

On behalf of Virginie Dumoulin (cc'd), please find enclosed some information on the International Coalition to Reduce Pollution by Plastic Bags.

We hope that this document, in English, will answer some of the questions raised at the meeting in Rome on 30 January, while providing all of you with the same level of information about this initiative.

In a nutshell, this coalition was announced by our Minister Mrs Royal, together with Monaco and Morocco, at the latest Our Ocean conference (Washington DC, Sept. 2016). It was subsequently launched during COP22 in Marrakesh, where the declaration of intent (also attached, both in English and French) was signed by several countries, including Italy. The main goal of this coalition is to build a political dynamic towards the elimination of single-use plastic bags, which implies different potential measures (and not necessarily a ban). This initiative can be embraced by both national States and local governments.

We would very much appreciate if other G7 countries could join this dynamic.

For any specific question you may have on the coalition, please send an e-mail to the following address : plastic-bags-coalition@developpement-durable.gouv.fr.

Looking forward to meeting you again,

Kind regards
Nicolas
